

Lancaster Intelligencer.

THURSDAY EVENING, AUG. 14, 1884.

New York Justice. We are often amazed at the great extent of the power of the New York policeman and police justice.

Simon Sterne, a leading New York lawyer, who has achieved political reputation as the antagonist of monopolies, says that he has no faith in Butler as an anti-monopolist.

Mr. Sterne is the attorney of English capitalists to whom Blaine's plot, Stephen B. Elkins, sold the Mora grant in New Mexico of 800,000 acres.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES have given their party the watchwords for the campaign. "Tell the truth," says Grover Cleveland, to his friends.

IN what speech has Mr. Blaine condemned the Star Route villain? When? Where? Whom?

EDITH DANA can find plenty of time to write Butler editorials, but he has no leisure that will permit him to preside over a Butler meeting.

THE TWO BRAGGERS. JUMPING JIM on a July day. Raked Chicago for some time.

PRINCE BISMARCK is very much displeased at the constantly increasing tide of emigration from Germany to America.

ALL true friends of Ireland must be filled with unmeasured delight at the earnestness and dignity that marks the proceedings of the great convention of their race now in session in Boston.

THE EVENING SESSION. The Convention Addressed by Messrs. Sexton and Redmond.

Setting up an Estate. Three Milwaukee lawyers recently settled an estate with a vengeance.

But it is the composition of the closet; the reflex of a sacred feeling and of fraternal confidence; and as such it must challenge the admiration and respect of all but the filthy minded.

A NEW LAW BUILDING.

COMPLETION OF A HANDSOME FINE.

Description of the new building, designed by Mr. E. U. Uban, a young architect of this city, who bids fair to attain high rank in his profession.

The new building was designed by Mr. E. U. Uban, a young architect of this city, who bids fair to attain high rank in his profession. The main structure has a front of 43 feet, and is 100 feet deep.

The building is entered by a heavy arched doorway in the center of the front, which is reached by a flight of four broad granite steps.

The partitions separating the rooms are pierced near the ceiling with windows or transoms, hung on pivots, and similar transoms above the communicating doors, thus affording an abundance of light to the middle rooms and ventilation when needed.

Attached to the rear of the main building is a three-story brick building, 15 by 21 feet in area.

THE LANDVILLE GAME. Wednesday's exercises in the woods—some spirited encounters given.

Wednesday Morning—At 10 a. m. Rev. Sargent of Harrisburg preached to a large audience. The "Eternal Life," this discourse was well received, being a good, practical sermon.

THE CHURCH. The closing prayer was offered by Rev. Price of Harrisburg. This gentleman is one among a few who are among yet of the old preachers of the Church of God, who have labored in the church nearly all the years since its first organization in this county by John Winnebrouer.

THE GRAND CIRCLE.

OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE UNION.

The business of the session on Wednesday afternoon was principally of a private character.

The committee on elections, reported the names of the officers elected and to be installed this morning, and the grand council proceeded to fill one or two vacancies in the list.

The report of the representatives to the supreme circle which met October 9th, 1883, was presented by B. E. Conrad and read. It contains a summary of the proceedings of the supreme circle. Among other matters adopted were the promulgation of the hailing or recognition sign and distress words; permission to wear regalia at funerals; changing the badge of grace from a cross to a gold and silver emblem (without dispensation) the wearing of the badge with caps at funerals; and that circles, unions, and homes, may (by dispensation) perform the installation service in public.

The following amendment to the by-laws of the supreme circle was also proposed: "In the event of a representative presenting himself, who may be by accident or some unavoidable cause without proper letters or credentials, but who can satisfy the Supreme Council that he has been duly elected or appointed, he may be admitted to a seat in the supreme council by a two-thirds vote."

The financial condition of the supreme circle was reported to be in a sound condition, the amount in the hands of treasurers of circles and homes as per last report being $14,793.79; the amount invested $32,392.52 and the total value of circles and homes $99,404.33.
